

Youth for Impact: Driving Equity and Innovation in Sports Leadership

India's sporting landscape is undergoing a major transformation, and the theme "Youth for Impact: Driving Equity and Innovation in Sports Leadership" reflects this shift. With a predominantly young population, India's youth are central to redefining sports as athletes, leaders, and innovators. Their involvement is vital for breaking stereotypes, expanding access, and modernising governance. Equity—especially gender inclusion and opportunities for marginalised communities—must anchor this progress. Alongside this, innovation through AI, analytics, and sports tech will reshape talent development and fan engagement. By 2047, youth-driven leadership, inclusive ecosystems, and global competitiveness can position Indian sport as a force for national pride and social transformation.
